of Clermont Harbor and New Orleans, serving one year for assault with a deadly weapon and Martin Williams, 23, alias John T. Ridgeway, 23, awaiting action of the grand jury on felony charges, fled from jail about 5 p.m. Friday.

The escape was effected when Clark, a trustee serving as cook, pulled a bunch of keys from Arthur (Pat) Garcia, Beat 5 Constable, whom he and Clyde Ellis entered the jail to talk to another prisoner. Holding the keys to Garcia's throat, Clark ordered the constable to open James Ridgeway's cell, released him, and locked the door. Clark then took the keys and automobile keys from Garcia and fled from Ellis, who was standing by the door, to take the officer's car, parked in a brightly lit area in front of the Courthouse, the escapees took off on foot across the railroad tracks toward Waveland.

Sheriff Sylvan J. Lader, Jr., and Deputy N.M. Vaughan, working in the office were unaware of any trouble until reports of a disturbance from the cell area in the rear were reported by City Policeman Eric Necaise and a phone call from Louis Moreau, Jr., whose residence is on Court Street. Necaise said he was driving by and heard a truck leave from the jail, he contacted the sheriff's office to suggest that they tell the driver to take a little more time, learning that Constable Garcia had escaped the jail, Necaise followed to ask about his recent fishing luck. Discovering what had occurred, he rushed to get keys to free the trapped twosome.

Calls were immediately issued to all units of the sheriff's department, city police, Mississippi Highway Patrol, Waveland officials, Harrison County sheriff's deputies and county patrol, Gulfport city police, who responded with bloodhounds and police dog, and Pat Toomey, conservation officer for county wide communications.

Road blocks were set up at highway as Clark was apprehended by Bay officers Paul Smith and Bob Goodall just off Beach Blvd. near Bay Oaks Drive, around 10 p.m. Friday, about two hours after the break.

Jones managed to enjoy his freedom about 345 words, although in less than 24 hours, as he still had $68. of the stolen money on his person when picked up before 3 p.m. the following day.

Hunger and thirst, most likely the latter, led to his apprehension by deputies Fred Curet and Leo Wood, and Constable Garcia in a wooded area near Clark's Restaurant.

Jones, alias Ridgeway, had entered the establishment around 2:30 p.m. and ordered beer and lunch, but left before completing the meal when someone mentioned the jailbreak. Bernard Clark, owner of the restaurant became suspicious and observed him en-front page stories in last week's issue the immediate growth potential of Hancock County. One told of the new record of employee 3,480, at Mississippi Test Operation. A story dealt with the opening in Bay St. Louis employment office for General Electric. It importantly showed the speed-up of employment at MTO both by GE and North American third story was about the briefing Marion Johnson head at Marshall Space Flight Center. It showed civic and local governmental leaders on acceleration at MTO.

Other stories of the past nine months dealt with "permanent" personnel at MTO were as of July last year about one-third lived in Hancock County. As of March 1, Corps of Engineers did not include, only one-fifth of the employees lived in Hancock County.

Although we have difficulty seeing them there are reasons for some MTO employees to live in Hancock County. The simplest reason for going to work at MTO he or she lived in Christian or Picayune or some other place in Hancock County.

Without Hancock County offers incoming employees at MTO more than any locality within range of their work site. Do you care to live in Hancock County? The same is true of education. Are you a golfer? Slidell's or other non-regulation nine holes are not in the area. With Pass Christian Isles Golf Course, Hancock County offers our county.

These advantages we still are not getting a fair share of MTO employees we should. Reasons most often given for this fact are (1) no schools. The housing problem is not solved. Contractors work daily and hard to re-schools are concerned the Bay-Waveland area and away the best in the MTO range. Our private schools account for much of the problem. But by several criteria the municipal system leads neighboring Picayune, Pass Christian, etc.

Hancock County the situation is not as favorable. In North Central there is an adequate educational program. But in that part of the county served by the county system where MTO might be expected to settle, the school is plainly inadequate. Gulfview School is bursting at the seams; Logtown School is abandoned, presumably to be relocated at another site.

Education ceremonies of Pearlington's new school, Supervisor H.G. Dean of Beat 1, reported Pearlington has more potential than any community in the area. "We've been kind of the same way for a couple of years, but Mr. Dean cannot come to pass without an education in the area. Neither will Clermont and Lakeshore grow without better schools south of them."

Education is a must, but better school facilities in southern part of the county are at least the expectation of the children growing up here. From a practical standpoint proper education the county demands improved schools. A $350,000 county school bond issue is on. Your best investment will be to

A conservative view

The good old days of McGuffey's reader

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK

To hell with Dick — and to hell with Jane, too. That is the splendid curse pronounced last month by Dr. Arthur S. Trace, Jr., in a scholarly polemic that ought to sell a million copies. The gentleman's ideas quite conceivably could do more to cure illiteracy in this country than all of Lyndon's billion

Dr. Trace, a professor of Education at Carleton University, will be remembered as the author of "What Johnny Doesn't Know." This was a comparative study of basic readers in the schools of the United States and basic readers in the schools of the Soviet Union. The book produced 21,932 cases of apoplexy among educationists from Long Island to Moscow, and had other good results besides. Trace's blunt conclusion was that the educationists are providing a poor education for American children, while Russia's academicians are providing solid meat.

Now Dr. Trace is back with a second book, following up his earlier assault. In "Reading Without Dick and Jane," published by Regnery at $4.50, he lays down a devastating attack upon the masters of "programmed retardation" who have reduced the fundamental skill of reading to the level of finger painting.

There was a time, Dr. Trace notes, when basic readers for the first, second and third grades were crammed with excellent selections. Everyone is generally familiar with the McGuffey Readers, but his research uncovers a dozen other series of readers widely used in American schools prior to 1920. Here the children learned not only to read; they learned something of literature also — and of history, patriotism, and moral instruction. By the time these unenlightened brutes reached the fifth and sixth grade, they were expected to plough through basic readers that included selections from Emerson, Hawthorne, Howells, Thoreau, Whitman, Addison, Burke, Byron, Coleridge, Dickens, Dryden, Scott, Shakespeare, Macaulay, Tennyson, and a score of others.

Now the children are enlightened. The educationists have taken over with their ridiculous formulae of "word-counts," by which no more than five new words are introduced every five pages, and each word is repeated five times thereafter in the next five pages, and a typical second-grade reader introduces a seven-year-old to precisely 142 new words in the first semester. These computerized non-books boast not of how many new words they provide, but rather of how few. And the level of literature is reached by Spot the dog, who jumps, jumps.

Dr. Trace does not deal in generalities. He names names, quotes text, provides specific examples that tumble disgracefully on one another. He is indicating the basic readers used in almost every major school system in the United States. Any intelligent parent who has taken the trouble to look at these pathetic and infuriating primers will agree that Dr. Trace is not overstating his case.

It is not merely that the basic readers are filled with the drivel of Dick and Jane. The appalling truth is that the basic readers cannot include selections from Aesop or Emerson or Poe because Aesop, Emerson and Poe are full of "hard words." These are words that do not appear in the pasteurized word lists. They are words that may not have little mountains in the middle, or monkey tails at the end, by which a good guesser can look at the letters D-O-G and make a stab at their meaning "dog."

If the "look and say" method of teaching reading had proved a success, Dr. Trace's blistering book could be dismissed as mere nostalgic yearnings for the days of Dr. McGuffey. The dismal fact is that reading and spelling skills are pitifully low in our school systems. The educationists themselves admit it. They turn out hundreds of professional papers acknowledging that large numbers of children emerge from school unable to read, but in these professional papers they blame this miserable situation on everything under the sun but the ineptitude of their own procedures.

When professors of elementary education reply to these charges, they generally make two points. The first is that they do make some use of phonics, along with the system of word recognition. The second is that basic readers are supplemented by many other books from home and school libraries, with the result that children actually acquire a reading vocabulary far beyond the inanities of Dick and Jane.

By way of rebuttal, Dr. Trace shows how little, and how grudgingly, the authors of today's basic readers acknowledge the existence of phonics. Consonants and vowels are introduced as if they were contaminated with flu germs and had to be sterilized first. The ancient skills of learning the sound of letters, and the structure of syllables, scarcely are used at all. As for supplementary reading, Dr. Trace reasonably observes that many homes have no home libraries, and many school libraries are limited or almost non-existent; and if average children can read supplementary books containing solid material, why not put the solid material in the basic readers in the first place?

The fight goes on. The educationists are dug in, and the war will not be ended soon. But oh, oh, Dr. Trace has written himself a whale of a book. It is enough to make a man jump, jump for joy, joy.

Letters to the Editor

Editor, Sea Coast Echo:

The women's auxiliary of Hancock General Hospital extends its thanks to the scores of men and women, as well as the numerous business organizations, who gave so generously of their services, their time, and their personal efforts in producing the Womanless Wedding on Saturday, April 26th. Because of their efforts, the production was in truth a "howling" success — as attested by the "howls" of laughter which greeted each member of the cast, as well as the blushing "bride".

The president of the auxiliary wishes to add her personal thanks to the entire membership of the auxiliary, and especially to those individual members who worked so skillfully and untiringly before, during and after the wedding; and to the Candy Strippers, who sold tickets, and acted as ushers on the night of the wedding.

To Mrs. Frank Klefer and to Mrs. Charles Carter, the directors, we also extend our special thanks.

MRS. A. M. ORTIE
 President, auxiliary

stiff dough. Knead it for a few minutes and let it stand while you prepare the filling.
 Filling: 1/2 cup butter
 1 large onion, finely chopped
 1 small tomato, finely chopped.

1/2 teaspoon paprika
 1 pound ground lean meat
 1 1/2 teaspoon flour
 1/2 cup beef stock
 1/2 teaspoon ground cumin
 1/2 teaspoon chili pepper
 1 hard-boiled egg, chopped
 1/3 cup seedless raisins
 salt to taste

Melt butter in frying pan. Add onions and saute until golden brown. Add paprika, tomato, meat, flour, stock, cumin, chili pepper and salt. Cook over medium heat for five minutes.

Make dough balls the size of an egg and roll them out thin in the form of a circle. In the center of each round place one tablespoon of the filling, a teaspoon of the chopped egg, one-half teaspoon of green olives and a few raisins. Moisten the edges of the rounds and fold over the mixture, pressing firmly. Make a design along the edges as for pastry. This part of the recipe can be prepared ahead of time. When you are ready to serve, merely bake the empanadas in a hot oven (400 degrees F) for 15 minutes, or fry in deep fat and drain on paper.

Four our main course, we move on to Bolivia where Peace Corps Volunteers enjoy the creative dish arroz con pollo. Spanish in origin, arroz con pollo is defined as chicken with rice — with any favorite ingredients you may wish to add.

To serve eight persons arroz con pollo:

- 2 chickens, 4 pounds each, cut into parts
- 6 carrots, cut into cubes
- 6 stalks of celery, cut into cubes
- 3 large onions, cut into small wedges
- 3 cloves garlic, finely chopped.
- 6 tomatoes, skinned, seeded and cubed
- 2 green peppers, diced
- 1/2 pound large fresh mushrooms, sliced.
- 6 hard-boiled eggs, cut into quarters
- 1/7 cup parsley sprigs
- 4 tablespoons capers
- 2 pimientos, cut into thin strips
- 20 black olives, sliced
- 1 cup shredded coconut
- 1/2 cup sliced almonds
- 1/8 cup oil

Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Debate is continuing hot and heavy among government advisors regarding the bombing of North Viet Nam. Some strategists argue that now is the time to knock out the atomic laboratory in the heart of China and continue bombing until the Chinese war potential is knocked out completely. This might take several years, could mean world war and the landing of a million Americans on the coast of China.

Other strategists claim that the bombing of China would make the Asiatic world bitter toward the United States for the next 50 or 100 years. They are vigorously opposed.

So here President Johnson has stood with the latter group. He wants to win the war in Southeast Asia and then retire as gracefully as possible. The problem, however, is to keep the war in North Viet Nam confined. Secretary of State Rusk continues to make optimistic statements, but many State Department advisors are not as optimistic as he is.

The Harlem globe trotter

One of the most carefully guarded secrets of Congress is how much money its members spend on overseas junkies. I have just seen the secret vouchers on one of Congressman Adam Clayton Power's celebrated trips. The Harlem globe trotter spent a couple weeks in Switzerland last summer. He drew 5,831 Swiss francs from the American Embassy to pay his personal expenses.

Have match, will travel

Uncle Sam is preparing to crack down on the professional arsonists whose fire-for-hire racket has been taken over by the Cosa Nostra crime syndicate.

These professional "torches," as they are called, are hired by businessmen to burn old buildings for the insurance money. The sabotage is made to look as if caused by faulty wiring or burst boilers, but the Justice Department has evidence that 124 fires in 17 different states were the work of racketeers.

Often they will blow up a businessman's building, then turn around and blackmail him for defrauding the insurance company. One squad of arsonists has even coined a slogan: "Have match, will travel."

Nix on birth control

Secretary of HEW Tony Celebrezze is being criticized for dragging his feet on birth control information.

His department spends millions of dollars in welfare funds to take care of illegitimate children, but Celebrezze has not helped to give information on birth control which would prevent the plight of future illegitimate children.

Some of the criticism is based upon the fact that Celebrezze is a Catholic. However, there has been a new look at birth control on the part of many leading Catholics.

Modern complications

The spacious new Sam Rayburn Office Building is continuing to give Congressional headaches. In addition to getting lost en route to their offices, Congressmen now find they can't hear.

The new hearing room of the House Judiciary Committee is so big and so complicated that some Congressmen are seated 40 feet away from Chairman Manny Celler of Brooklyn in the center.

To speak to him they press a button which turns on the loud speaker. A girl sitting out in front of the rostrum then punches other buttons to permit them to speak.

The other day, Rep. John Dowdy, D-Tex., protested audibly: "I formally move that we leave this chamber. I cannot hear a word the chairman says. This room is too large and too complicated, I move that we abandon it."

Chairman Celler listened carefully. Then he turned to Rep. Peter Rodino, D-N.J., and asked: "What did the man say?"

Medicare foot-dragging

Sen. Harry Byrd of Virginia has thrown the Senate machinery into slow motion on the Medicare bill. He is sore at President Johnson for asking him in front of television to speed up the hearings.

Johnson went to great trouble to attend Mrs. Byrd's funeral and after the funeral kissed Sen. Byrd's hand as a token of respect and affection. But all that today is forgotten.

Byrd is now quietly but efficiently slowing down action on Medicare. He has used the voting rights debate as a one excuse to delay Medicare hearings. Another is that he has a list of over 50 people who want to testify.

Meanwhile, Byrd is working behind the scenes with the American Medical Assn. and certain big insurance companies to make a stubborn, last-ditch stand against medical aid for the elderly.

DAR's economy

The Daughters of the American Revolution wound up their annual convention this year on a less shrill note than usual. They adopted a line slightly to the left of the John Birch Society.

Behind the scenes, however, they were still sour on a lot of government policies, especially reckless government spending.

In all their meetings, however, no one mentioned what the government spends to publish the DAR annual report. Even as the ladies met, they submitted their latest annual report to the Senate Rules Committee for publication at the taxpayers' expense. It should cost the government no more than $5,000 to print the report, but this small subsidy has been granted to the DAR every year since it was founded in 1895.

In other words, the Daughters of the American Revolution are against government subsidies for everyone but themselves.

Contradictory policy

American diplomats have just discovered that they are boosting Ho Chi-Minh of North Viet Nam with one hand, and slapping him in the face with the other.

The State Department recently launched a campaign to build up Ho and exploit his fear of a Chinese take-over.

But while the diplomats were sending sweet messages to Ho, American planes were dropping leaflets all over North Viet Nam assailing Ho personally as a lackey for the Red Chinese.

Malaria in Viet Nam

One intelligence report from Saigon states that the Viet Cong guerrillas have been stricken with malaria and dysentery. At the same time, Viet Cong representatives have confided to the French that they are tired of the long war.

These reports may have been deliberately planted to mislead the defenders, and American commanders still expect renewed guerrilla attacks after the coming monsoons curtail air operations.

 During the last half hour, prepare the rice by glazing it in a large skillet over a medium flame. Moisten it with cooking oil to prevent sticking and stir frequently. Add the mushrooms. The rice and mushrooms are finished when they color a warm brown.
 After the chicken is done, allow it to cool. Then remove the meat from the bones and dice it into large pieces. Add (Cont. on Page 6)

A special five-hole tournament for the beginners' class at Pass Christian Isles Golf Club is scheduled at 9:30 a.m. on ladies day Tuesday. The group which has just finished a six-week course taught by Cal Smith, club professional, will assemble on No. 10 tee. During their business meeting at 9 a.m. Tuesday women golfers will elect officers for the coming year.

Mrs. Herman deVries posted a 69 net to win last Tuesday's ladies day play while Mrs. John McDonald won low putts with 25.

In a special tombstone tournament last Friday winners were Mrs. John David, Powell Glass, Jr., Walter Russo, Cary Spence and Miss Maud Frye.

Chateau hosts tourney Sunday

St. Stanislaus Stadium will see action this weekend as the softball tournament previously scheduled for Sunday in Waveland has been moved to the city site.

Commencing at 10 a.m., and hosted by Chateau Sea, the tournament will see all league teams cross the mound, less the hosting squad.

One outside team will also participate, this—a hot star nine from Long Beach.

St. John's tournament last weekend developed into a battle for top honors between Chateau Sea and Trapani, with the former emerging triumphant with a 3-1 victory. Jimmy Mayfield was the winning pitcher and Constable...

Clark and Jones, both await grand jury decision on additional charges of armed robbery, jailbreak and assault and battery.

Tigers and Rocks sixth at Biloxi

Bay High and St. Stanislaus tied for sixth spot with 12 points each in the District 8 class AA track meet Saturday at Biloxi.

Host Biloxi secured top spot with 64 1/2 points, Gulfport with 50 and Piquette with 20 1/2 were second and third.

Charles Necaise of Bay High, with a tied first in the high jump, scored most individual points for the two schools followed by Doc Rhodes of St. Stanislaus with a second in the shot put event and Don Wiltz of Bay High with a third in the 100 yard dash and a fourth in the 220 yard dash.

Dale Burke of St. Stanislaus helped his relay team partners, Mike Andrews, Larry Boudreaux and Bill Delaune to third positions in both the 440 and 880 yard relay. Burke won additional points with a fifth place in the 220 yard dash.

Larry Johnson of Bay High, also a shot putter, moved the big weight through the air sufficiently far to capture fifth place in that event. Jeff Phipps of the same school sprang his way into fourth position among the pole vaulters. Boudreaux leaped into fifth position in the broad jump.

VCI to host SMAC meet

Track teams from eight schools will compete when Valena C. Jones hosts the Southern Mississippi Athletic Conference meet at St. Stanislaus Stadium from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday.

Participating schools are Randolph High, Lockport High, Todd Memorial, John Jefferson, St. Rose de Lima, Oak Grove, Terry Attendance Center and VCI.

Gold, silver and bronze medals will be awarded in individual and relay events and first and second place team trophies presented.

Summers girl hurt by auto

Deborah Ann Summers, 10, of Bay St. Louis was taken to Hancock General Hospital by Riemann's Fahey-Whitfield ambulance around 8 p.m. Friday after being struck by 1954 Plymouth operated by Dennis Thatcher of Chartres Drive. The mishap occurred in front of A and G Theater.

She was treated for a fractured arm, contusions and brush burns according to investigating officer Bob Goodsell.

Hearing will be in Mayor's court at 7:30 p.m. May 6.

Phone taxes...

The repeated tax will mean an immediate reduction in the cost to customers for telephone service," DeLong said. He said a federal excise tax on telephone service was first imposed in World War I. It was repealed in 1924, but imposed again during the depression and

World War II.

"The tax was supposed to be a temporary measure, but it is still in effect," said DeLong. The 86th Congress provided that the tax on local telephone service would terminate June 30, 1959, but the 87th and 88th Congress extended the date each year. The tax on local service is currently scheduled to expire June 30, 1965, unless extended by the 89th Congress.

the chicken, a cup of its stock, the vegetables with which the chicken was cooked, the white wine, the black olives and salt and pepper to the rice and heat over a low flame.

Then transfer the arroz con pollo to a serving platter. To garnish, attractively arrange the pimientos, capers, almonds and coconut on the top of the mixture. Form a border around the dish with sprigs of parsley and hard-boiled egg wedges, sprinkled gently with vinegar. Accompany this main course with a salad of romaine, Boston and endive lettuces with a single dressing of wine vinegar and olive oil. This arrangement will provide an appropriate contrast in taste to the appetizing delight of arroz con pollo.

For a cooling finish to our Latin American feast, Peace Corps Volunteers in Jamaica suggest a chilled fresh-fruit compote of bananas, pineapples, strawberries and kumquats marinated in your favorite liqueur and garnished with whipped cream and vanilla wafers.

One last-minute note. After serving your Peace Corps Latin American dinner, you will receive recipe pleas from your delighted guests. Be generous. Remember the work of the Volunteers and share your skills, culinary and otherwise, with those who wish to learn.

View chapel furnishing at hospital

Representatives of the Woman's Benefit Assn., Mississippi Review No. 18, met with members of the clergy and hospital staff on Friday to discuss furnishings for the new chapel at Hancock General Hospital.

To be financed by the woman's group at a cost of approximately $2,000, the chapel will serve a variety of functions and provide facilities for brief devotional services, silent prayer, ministerial conferences and personal meditation.

Presently a patient room, the conversion is to be completed by late June.

The Benefit committee at City pay...

Additional revenues are obtained by the city from the one cent sales tax, which this year will probably reach $73,000, and a two per cent of gross sales power franchise tax split between the city and county. The Jaycees presented a petition last Monday signed by about 200 taxpayers requesting that the mayor's salary be raised to $700 per month and the commissioners' to $650. At present all three receive $400 a month. The last increase was in 1957.

Other Jaycee interest centered around the forthcoming Charles Carter, Jr., for State President drive and city commissioners were asked to purchase a $200 advertisement in the club's monthly publication, The Spirit of Bay St. Louis. Jaycees pointed out that if elected Carter would carry the name of the city over all Mississippi and to other points in the U.S.

After determining that the local man's chances were high and that the publication was well circulated, commissioners agreed to the advertising request.

Other city business revolved around a motion approving plans and specifications as submitted on the Spanish Acre subdivision.

With a portion of this development in the city and the remainder in the county, difficulties have been experienced in receiving final approvals.

"We have received the approval and suggestions of our building inspector and of our planning commission," said Scalfide, "and I think the developers should take heed of the suggestion that further access roads be provided."

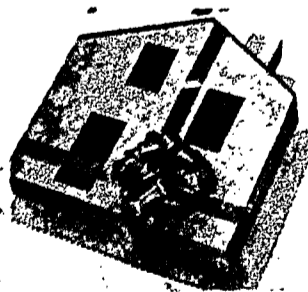

The development, closely watched from its inception by City Hall, is the first to receive approval under the new subdivision ordinance.

In Monday's final item, it was disclosed that the 4,000-foot gas line laid by Slade Construction Co., of Gulfport last month at a cost of approximately $7,000, is in full operation. The line goes down Central Avenue, then in Bay Oaks Drive and Chantilly Terrace, and passes under the I and M tracks.

The new monthly figure is the first since the current record was set last year.

The increase can be attributed to the change in the way the figure is calculated, as well as to the growth of new age groups, "Smith said. "The new calculation covers the entire range of age groups from 18 to 64, and it is not longer any daily, weekly or monthly figure, but a long-term average of the entire population."

Smith said the figure is a steady growth in the number of people in the 18 to 64 age group, and that this growth is a result of a steady growth in the number of people in the 18 to 64 age group, and that this growth is a result of a steady growth in the number of people in the 18 to 64 age group.

As elsewhere in society, humor entered newspapers in its own unpredictable manner. Readers wanted to be entertained as well as informed. Evidence: continuing success for comics.

Perhaps it began in the 1880's when a rash of American humorists broke into print. Among their columns were "Peck's Bad Boy" — "Arkansas Traveler" — "A Man of the World."

Then, in the 1890's, the "Yellow Kid" and "Katzenjammer Kids" paved the way for modern cartoon and adventure strips.

Yet, wit was but part of a serious business in which the word "profession" was becoming descriptive of journalism. Even as the decade began, two special courses were offered at the University of Missouri.

RESHORE LOG

As to Jimmy, who have nearly Monday, April 26, Mrs. Barbara of Mr. and Mrs. of Slidell, son of Mr. and Mrs. of Ansley, tournament was the Gulfview. A very large game and drinks - all to buy much.

needed uniforms. St. John's did not win a trophy but made a good showing their first time in competition, winning one and losing one.

Late but happy birthday greetings to Deborah and Lisa Stoufflet, daughters of Merle and the late David Stoufflet. Deborah made her first communion Sunday in St. Clare's Catholic Church, Waveland, along with other members of her school class.

Work on the new stage for Gulfview school is progressing and should be ready this weekend.

Saturday, May 1, voters of Hancock County are asked to go to the polls and vote for the bond issue for our county schools. With the increase in population a larger Gulfview is urgently needed. Pearlinton children need a school desperately to replace Logtown and North Central needs many additions. Let's forget past grudges and think only of the kids and their future education and vote YES on May 1.

I'd like to wish a very happy birthday to my friend, Mrs. Lillian McCarty of Pearlinton, who celebrated Monday, April 26.

Boosters Club on the state line has a good band Friday and Saturday and all who enjoy this activity are invited. Get well wishes to Jeff Fuschich who is very ill in the VA Hospital in New Orleans.

Seen in Lakeshore Sunday enjoying the football tournament were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Monti and children, Mr. and Mrs. August Ladner, Mrs. Bert Green, Mrs. George Stolz, O. L. Moran, Marie (Ladner) Green, Marie Peterson, Frank Trapani, Mr. and Mrs. Laverne Sones, etc., etc.

Miss Fits fete

Miss Fits bowling league members thoroughly enjoyed their annual awards banquet last Thursday night at Haverly's. . . food and drink were delicious and trophy chairman, Edna Vassalli did a wonderful job. . . as we were so busy picking up gossip for the column we are a little vague as to who got which lovely trophy but Marshal's, Ramsey's and Himel's were top three teams. . . Mary Lou Kleinhaus had high game and Inger Phillips walked away with top series. A rather odd election of officers resulted in most going in for a second term—with the exception of president and vice president. . . Roseanne Thomas insisting that she'd had it as prey for four years, and no one could remember who was vice president to re-elect her. . . we think it was Bertha Genin. . . but she was among the absent. . . any Mary Lou Kleinhaus is still secretary; Edith De Vries, treasurer; Margaret De Haan, sergeant at arms; Gerri DeLoft is now officially vice president, and your poor old reporter president, as absolutely no one else was sucker enough to take on the job, and no president, no league. An added note—we want to express admiration for the few brave males who escorted their wives. . . Ervin Neatase, Bubba White, Nellus Rhodes, Richard DeLoft, Jack (and we really do know your name, sport) Kesseland, Merlin Markel and Plo Furchner and Inez Bourdier's better halves.

New decorator

Ralph Morel decided that retirement didn't offer much of a challenge so now has a brand new position in interior decorating. He's representing interiors by Dan H. Haskock County and has an enormous selection of carpeting, tile, in-laid linoleum, upholstery and drapery fabrics. . . In fact just about anything to be used in home decoration. . . Jinks Coleman Avenue headquarters.

Shirley Garriga informs us that husband Jim has recuperated from recent leg surgery and has returned to work.

Another Shirley, Dugby, gets hope you're feeling better wishes having been quite ill with a strep throat over the weekend.

Many who knew and loved the late Rev. J. Cade Rouseman will be happy to know that funds are now being collected by Waveland Methodist Church members for a memorial to be dedicated in his name.
